

Accessing Google Classroom for McCann's School of Dance

In order to be able to use Google classroom for a McCann's class, you will need a Google account not associated with a public school. In order to create an account, start by going to Google's homepage.

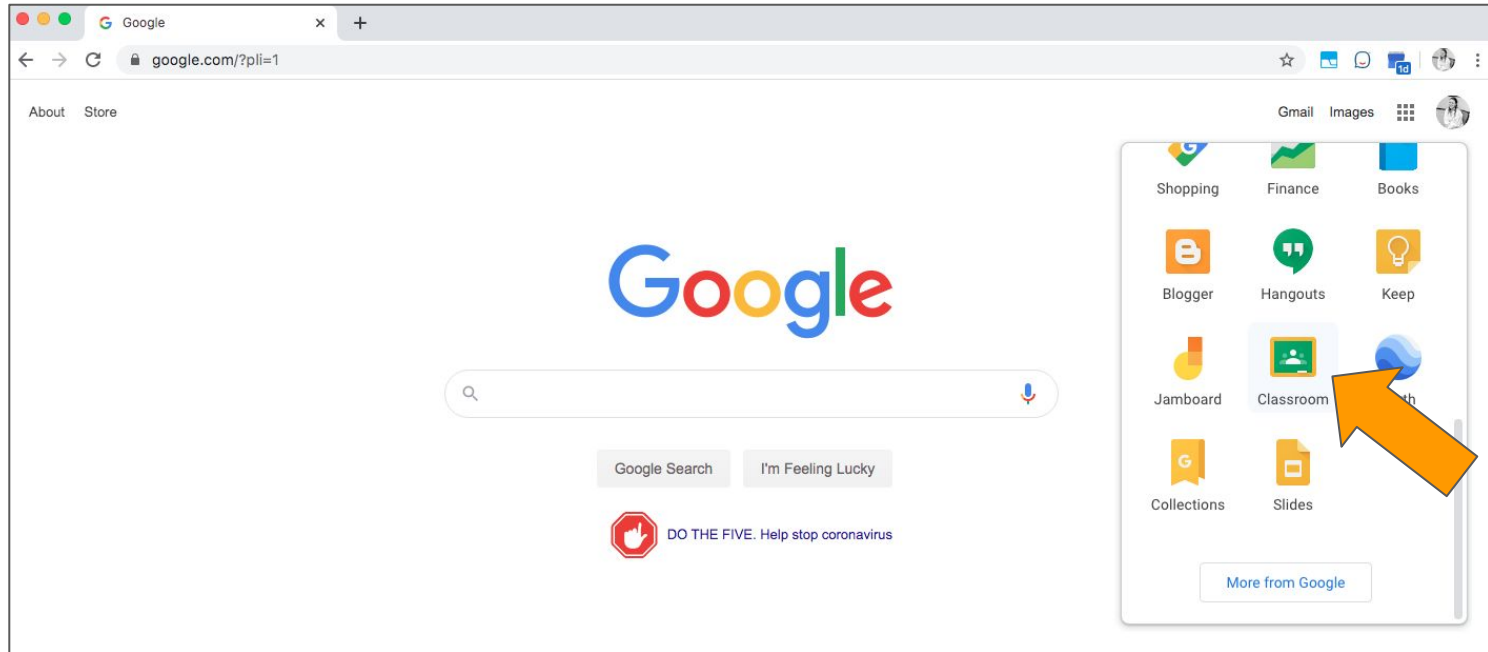

Once there, please click the "Sign In" button in the top right corner of the page. If you have a google account already, please click her to sign in. If you do not, you may also click here to create an account. Once your account is created, return to the home page.

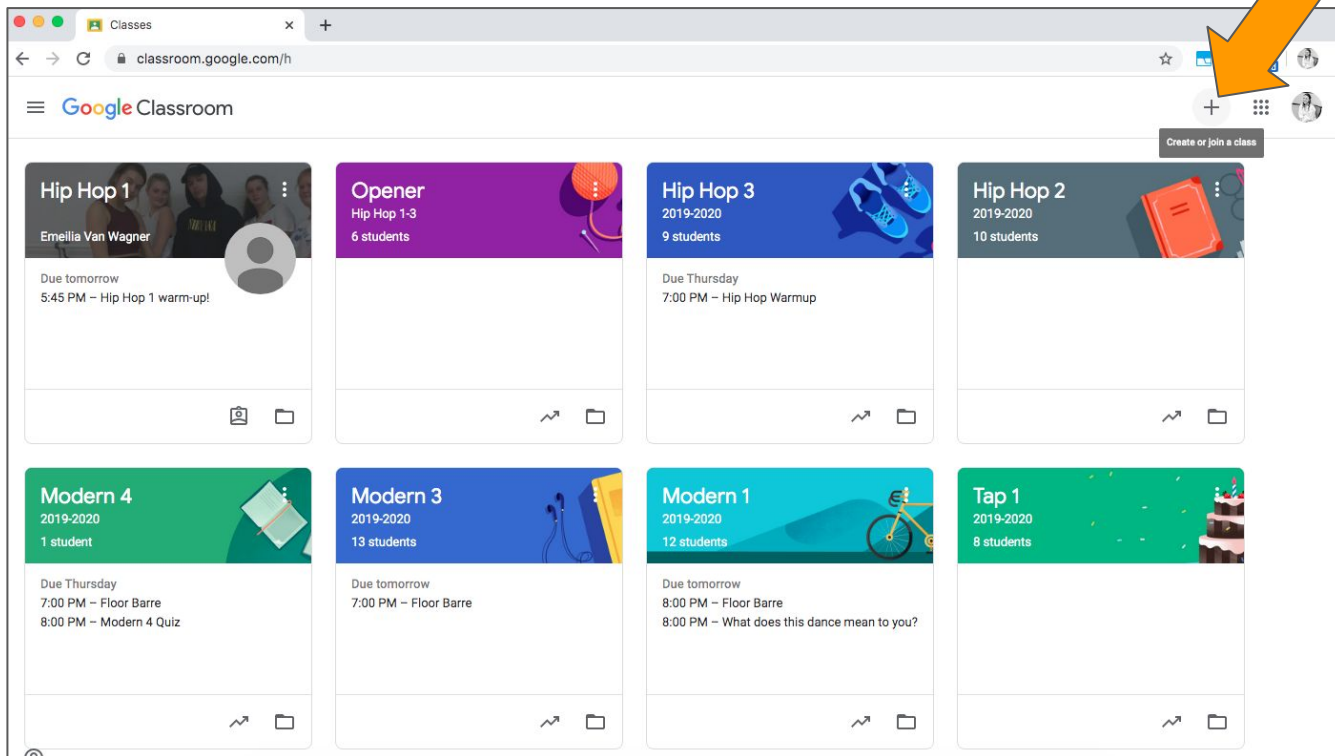

Once logged in and at the home page, click on the 3x3 grid in the top right corner of the page.

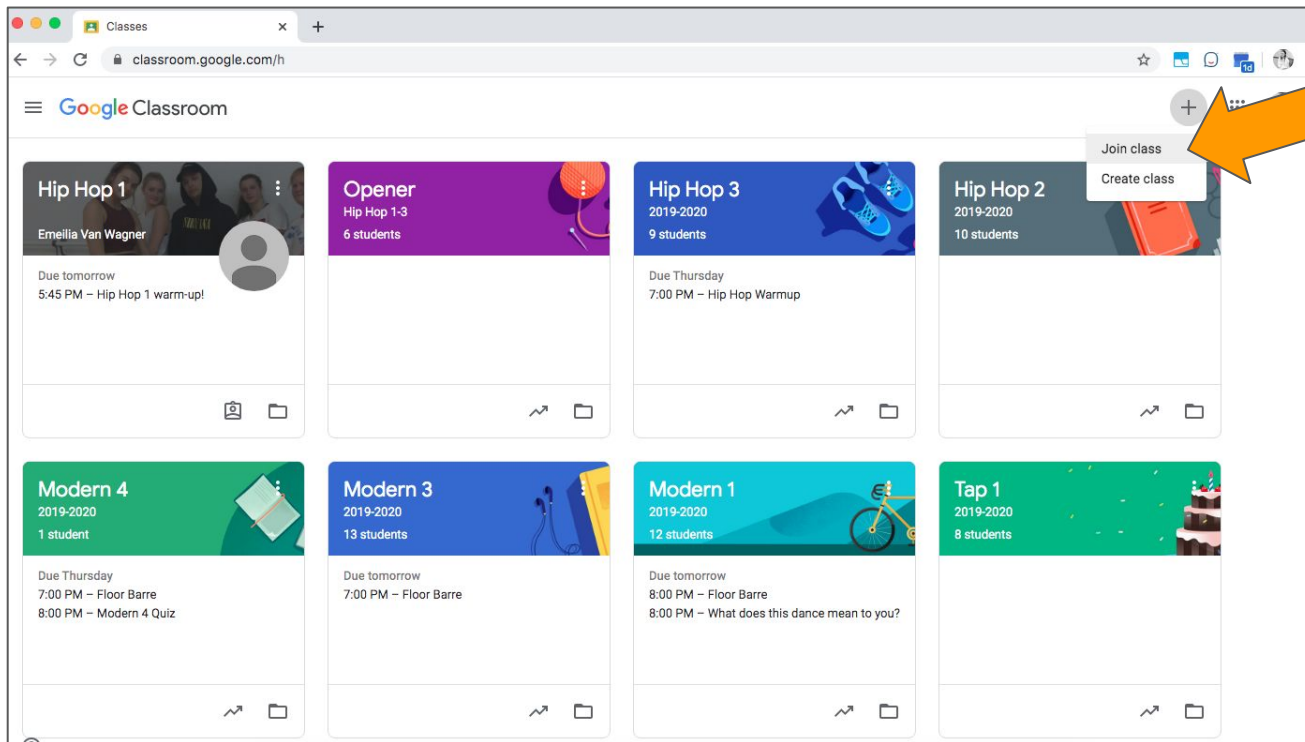

By clicking on the grid, this will open a drop-down menu of different apps offered by Google. Scroll down until you find Google classroom. The icon will look like a chalkboard. Click on this icon.

If you have previously used Google Classroom, the classes you are signed up for will appear on your page. If you need to sign up for another class, click on the “+” in the top right corner of the page.

After clicking the “+,” you will be given two options, “Join Class” and “Create Class.” Select “Join Class.”

After clicking, “Join Class,” a window will appear asking for an access code. This is where you will enter the class codes provided by the studio. Once in the classroom, you will be able to view messages from the teacher and students as well as access assignments.
